THIRTY-SEVENTH YEAR, NO. 8.

FORMAL OPENING SAT. OF LAKE PONCHATRAIN'S CONCRETE AUTO BRIDGE

Ceremony Planned For Occasion Including Blessing By Archbishop Shaw—Structure Links New Orleans
With Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Plans at New Orleans for the formal opening next Saturday of the new $5,500,000 all-concrete Pontchartrain bridge across the lower end of Lake Pontchartrain are finished, according to an announcement by Mayor Arthur J. O'Keefe of a special commission of prominent citizens to arrange details for the event.

Charles H. Hamilton, president of the Association of Commerce, is chairman of the commission, which also includes the heads of almost all of the principal civic organizations, luncheon clubs, business exchanges and women's organizations of New Orleans.

This commission is planning a somewhat elaborate celebration for the opening of tourists of this the longest concrete bridge of its kind, measuring 15.41 miles, including the approaches. It has been definitely decided to make the event memorable and consistent with the high type of structure that the bridge is.

A historic pageant in which Miss Louisiana, accompanied by Miss New Orleans, will cut the ribbon placed at the center of the bridge in mid-lake, opening it to Miss World and the traffic of the ever-increasing motoring public of the United States. These characters will be represented by pretty girls of New Orleans and St. Tammany Parish situated at the northern end of the bridge.

Many other features have been decided upon by the program committee of which Nicholas Bauer, superintendent of public schools in New Orleans, is chairman. These provide for having Archbishop John W. Shaw bless the bridge and the time-honored custom of having the mayors of the two cities linked by the bridge, clasp hands in honor of the event. Mayor O'Keefe of New Orleans, to the South of the bridge, and Mayor A. D. Canuelle of Slidell, a short distance north of it, are co-operating in the event.

Formal opening of the Pontchartrain bridge next Saturday is regarded as a highly important event to motorists as it will link New Orleans with highways to the north and east without the bothersome delay of ferries now necessary at Chef Menteur and the Rigolets.

It will shorten the time of travel from the Mississippi Gulf Coast, Memphis, Hattiesburg, Jackson and all travel entering the city from the east or north by an hour or more. For in addition to eliminating the use of ferries, it will actually shorten the distance by approximately nine miles.

The bridge will serve as a link in the Old Spanish Trail, one of the most beautiful trans-continental drives from historic St. Augustine, Fla., through Bay St. Louis to San Diego, Calif. The Colonial Highway which is to connect Canal street in New Orleans with Broadway, N. Y., through the new Hudson tunnel also will use the new bridge.

Despite the almost gigantic proportions of the construction work involved in the new Pontchartrain bridge, the job was finished ahead of schedule time and record for such work. After the enormous plant for molding the concrete piles and other preliminary work was completed, construction of the bridge proceeded at the rate of a mile each month of finished bridge.

Lumber, sufficient to build a moderate sized town, was used in erecting the concrete forms. A total of two million feet was used. A total of 1,700 miles of reinforcing steel, 200,000 barrels of cement and other hundreds of thousands of cubic yards of gravel, sand and shell were used.

Leading business men of St. Louis, Memphis, Chicago and New York will attend the bridge opening here and will be guests later of the Pontchartrain Bridge company of which Eli T. Watson is president. Directors of the company from New York, Memphis and St. Louis will attend.

The new bridge will compare favorably with those charged on much shorter bridges and are lower than some of these. The rate will be 12¢ with a ten cent state tax and ten cents for extra passengers.

Plant 500 Oak Trees.

The Voight Brothers, of Chicago, who two years ago purchased large acreage one mile north of Gulf Hills, have just planted 500 live oaks to beautify their property. They are better pleased with their investment than they were of the time of the purchase. They were here earlier in the season to look over their Coast holdings.

Investigations Here.

Richard: Let's see, I bought this suit four weeks ago.

Arthur: My goodness, I believe you are a good-looking boy.

Richard: I am, I am.

"FREE" SCHOOL BOOKS WILL INCREASE TAX BURDEN IN MISS.

Graft, Political Jobs and Inferior Workmanship Is History Where Tried.

The printing of school books and state and county records by the State of Mississippi seems to be one of the major matters to come before the Legislature. Those opposed to this measure, and whose opposition seems based not on political but on economic and educational reasons, do not believe that the measure will get far with the Legislature. They have letters from the superintendents of education in the states listed below whose investigation of the State Printing of School Books by legislative committees have convinced them that it is not to the best interest of their states. There are 19 states which have made these investigations of the methods in California and Kansas, the only two states doing their school book printing. All the letters contained more or less forcible reference to graft, political jobs and poor work in the printing establishments of two states. These states have investigated with a view to adopt the plan and have decided adversely on the details: Florida, South Dakota, Wyoming, Nevada, Minnesota, Georgia, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia, Vermont, Illinois, Alabama, Colorado, where the committee after investigation rejected the proposition by a vote of 7 to 1; Oregon, Kentucky, Washington, where the Superintendent of Education says: "What inside information I have from California is not favorable to state publication of school books." Washington is next door neighbor to California and knows what is going on there. Also Pennsylvania, North Carolina and Tennessee have made investigations looking to the question of state printing.

The Superintendent of Education in Kentucky says: "The disastrous experiences of other states should be a warning to those states contemplating undertaking such a radical departure from the well established plan." The Superintendent in Pennsylvania writes: "My observation has been that there is no gain either in the quality or in the cost of books where they have been provided by State publication." The North Carolina Superintendent writes: "Our educational commission appointed to make a survey of public education in North Carolina reported adversely on a proposal to have the State print and distribute public school textbooks." From Tennessee the Superintendent writes: "After some investigation two or three times the past twenty years the State is not inclined to consider publishing its textbooks."

The opponents of the measure here advance many reasons why the State should not embark upon this enterprise, not least supported by the experience of Kansas and California. Among them are: it would increase State taxation.

New Ford Fordin Sedan— de Luxe Car.

The Ford Sedan is the de luxe line and has many features that are new and exclusive in low priced cars. It is distinctive from the other Ford passenger cars in exterior appearance. The cowl sweeps down in a graceful curve to a narrow belt moulding which runs from the front of the hood on a straight line back and around the car. This gives the body a long, low effect.

Another feature that adds much to the exterior appearance is the roll belt effect below the windows and which rolls down to the narrow moulding.

The top and rear quarter, which has rounded corners, are covered with a pyroxylin coated material of a tan shade, in pleasing contrast with the body colors.

Nickel-finish shield frame and a nickel-finish moulding at the juncture of the cowl and hood are other bits of refinement which add materially to the attractiveness of the car.

The interior of the car has a strikingly rich and inviting appearance. The trimming is of tan effect with deeply cushioned seats upholstered in soft tan striped cloth, a highly effective combination. The cushions are of the lounge style with over-stuffed plain panels. Arm rests in the rear compartment are another convenience.

A feature of the rear quarter, which adds to the room for passengers, is that the lining is recessed from the door pillars, giving the additional room which is lost when the trimming is brought back on a straight line from the pillars.

Seats in both compartments are deeply cushioned, wide and most comfortable.

The attractiveness of the interior is further enhanced by the use of embossed paneling on the doors and around the ends of the seat in the front compartment. This is a decidedly distinctive touch, such as might be expected only in custom built bodies.

The oval bow light in the rear compartment and a swinging robe rail are other pleasing and serviceable features.

The hardware is all nickelled in a decorative style of scroll effect and is all of uniform design in harmony with other interior trimming.

Coolidge Unable to Visit Pass Christian.

The Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce recently extended through its secretary, Miss L. Courtney, an invitation to President Calvin Coolidge to visit Pass Christian as the guest of the citizens of the city. A letter was received Monday extending the President's thanks to the Pass for the invitation stating: "I have often heard of the beauties of Pass Christian and hope sometime to pay it a visit," and added that he regretted that it would be impossible for him to come to the Coast in the near future.

Naturally, the press of Mississippi is discussing the legislative proposition to tax tobacco. The Semi-Weekly Journal of McComb quotes the New Orleans States as saying that Louisiana is heartily in favor of repealing its tobacco tax, which has caused bootlegging of tobacco and has diverted a large volume of retail business from that city.

Chairman Castle of the Senate Finance committee believes that if you "confront an average man with some form of taxation every time he turns around he unconsciously becomes an opponent of good government." Macmillan, in his "France," utters this warning: "Beware of innovations, especially if they increase taxation."

A sermon on the merits of work well done was recently delivered by the Rev. Roy Hewlett at Anniston, Ala. The inspiration for the sermon was gotten from the superb manner in which L. & N. Engineer D. L. Harmon handled his train while the pastor was enroute to Birmingham. The complete sermon is carried in the L. & N. Employee Magazine for February.

Repeal of the "Stop, Look, and Listen" law is provided for in the lengthy measure introduced in the House Monday by Arthur V. Smith. Accepting the fact that this law is generally ignored, the representative from Jackson county wisely seeks its repeal. However, Mr. Smith realizes that some grade crossings are extraordinarily dangerous. So he has one section of his bill vesting the highway commission and the railroad commission jointly with the responsibility for specifying these particular crossings, directing "Stop, look at each one, and seeing to it that the motorists obey the law at these dangerous crossings."

The Clarke County, Miss., chose the United States forest service an authority for the construction of a new bridge over the Natchez Trace. The bridge is to be constructed of timber and is to be built across the Natchez Trace, which the timber is to be used for the construction of the bridge.

PAVED HIGHWAYS.

With the opening of paved road over that stretch in Alabama, between Grand Bay and Theodore, it is now possible for the motorist from Bay St. Louis to travel the entire length of ninety-odd miles over solid road surface.

This is quite an accomplishment and reflects well for the progressiveness of the builders and people who have made this possible by their willingness to dig deep into their pockets.

Such major improvements are too frequently taken for granted and it is referred to at all times as a matter of course. Completion of this road meant overcoming many obstacles to say nothing of preliminary attention, and most of all financing.

Such road some years ago, and not very far back at that, would have been looked upon as well nigh impossible. But seemingly, in this age which we live, there is nothing impossible. Man with vision and his ingenuity knows no obstacles, but labors valiantly for the public good and in the end great results are attained.

The time is coming when that section of the Old Spanish Trail, from Bay St. Louis on through to New Orleans, whatever the course of the road might be in future, will call for hard-surfacing. Increased traffic, terrific friction of auto and safety of lives demand such attention, and the hope is expressed the powers that be, who have already been so lavish in interest of more and better roads, will be able to see their way clear to carry on the work to completion.

ENGLAND'S GAIN; AMERICA'S LOSS.

The people of Bay St. Louis in common with most Americans, regret that Mr. Orville Wright has shipped the biplane in which he and his brother, Wilbur, made the first successful flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C., to England. This historic machine, it would seem, should remain in this country where future Americans might have the opportunity of inspecting it for historic reasons.

At the same time the Sea Coast Echo is not in any position to criticize the inventor. Without attempting to judge the dispute between him and the Smithsonian Institute, at Washington, we are frank to say if we felt as Mr. Wright feels, we would also send the machine abroad.

Expressing regret that the plane would go to Europe, where it will exhibit at the Science Museum, near London, Mr. Wright says he "wanted it placed in a national museum where it would have proper recognition." The Smithsonian, from what we gather, gives credit to the Wright Brothers for the "first successful flight," but tends to credit Prof. Langley with "inventing" the successful machine.

TOURISTS SPEND MILLIONS.

The Sea Coast Echo notes a press special from Owosso, Michigan, to the Detroit Free Press, which says the tourist trade of Michigan in a few years will be worth more to the State than the lumber industry at its height, according to a statement by Governor Fred W. Green in a speech a few nights since at the annual banquet of the Shiawassee County Conservation association. The Governor said the lumber business in its best years netted the State $70,000,000 annually and that last year more than 5,000,000 tourists registered at State parks.

The statement is particularly interesting because it tells of a local condition. With our own lumber resources dwindling and tourists travel increasing there are no reasons why this section should not profit similarly. Tourists camps in Michigan attract auto tourist.

As we view it, there is bright prospect for this section in lieu of the fast-ebbing lumber trade, and it is interesting to note the utterance of Governor Green, for, from what he says, we can reasonably infer, the same will apply in like results in more sections of the country than one.

FEW CHANGES IN BANKING LAWS.

"There is no likelihood of a repeal of the guaranty of deposits law at this session of the legislature. Perhaps two years hence the lawmakers may be induced to see the wisdom of such a policy, but, in my opinion it will not take place at this session."

This is the statement of Chairman Floyd Loper, of the Senate committee on banking, one of the ablest and most conservative members of the lawmaking body.

Chairman Loper didn't exactly say so, but rather plainly intimated that in his judgment, the guaranty of deposits law ought to be repealed, and ultimately must be repealed.

Practically all of the bills thus far introduced in the Senate were framed at the suggestion of J. S. Love, state superintendent of banks, and will probably go through with little or no opposition.

Over in the House some rather radical measures on banking have been prescribed, one of which imposes a double liability on stockholders in event of the failure of a state bank. Under existing laws only the directors are liable to double the amount of their holdings.

A CIVIC DUTY.

We have time and again urged all the citizens of Bay St. Louis to trade with the merchants of Bay St. Louis as far as possible. It is simply a matter of keeping the money of our citizens in the common barrel, where it will roll out in commerce, to help us all.

The simplest citizen knows that is the only way for Bay St. Louis to grow and prosper. Therefore, when Bay St. Louis business men, through their merit, deserve local support they should get it. Every citizen should bear this in mind all the time.

ESCAPES OUR INTELLECTS.

We see by the public prints that six Americans have been decorated by France. Just why the French government should confer its honors upon American citizens escapes our intellects. Just why American citizens should seek or desire the favor of foreign governments also escapes our intellects.

The Jackson County Bar association had a meeting with C. H. Wood as chairman, and passed resolutions endorsing the candidacy of V. A. Griffith for the supreme court bench of the State, to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Justice Holden, the election to be held sometime the coming summer. Justice Griffith is at present the sole chancellor of this judicial district and lives at Gulfport.

Two Fine Frenchmen.

Berlin's Flaming Youth.

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(For The Sea Coast Echo)

Emil Ludwig, whose biographies of Napoleon and Bismarck are popular, has chosen for the "four great Americans" Edison, Jane Addams, Rockefeller, Orville Wright, and is looking for a fifth. He will select Henry Ford if he is as intelligent as his books sound.

"Greatness" is hard to define. Edison and Ford are the two most useful Americans, with perhaps one exception. Edison supplied light; Ford distributed 15,000,000 gasoline wagons to ride around in the light, setting the country free from the law of gravitation.

The exception would be John D. Rockefeller. History may call him the most useful American. He has proved that competition is not economic, efficient or necessary, killing the most harmful economic superstition.

Lot's wife looked back, although told not to, and was changed to a pillar of salt. A column of salt near the Dead sea called "Formerly Lot's Wife" is now to be abolished by cold-hearted British owners of a concession to work Dead sea deposits.

Once that column of salt was taken most seriously. Irenaeus, the martyr, vouched for its genuineness and believed "that the soul of Lot's wife still lingered in the statue, giving it a son of organic life."

Many religions have similar traditions. Mecca, to which good Mohammedans go on pilgrimage, shows the black stone of the Casaba from which Mohammed rose to heaven. An angel, warned by the Almighty to keep Adam away from the forbidden fruit, neglected his duty and was changed to a stone.

Tradition made Mrs. Lot's salt statue unusual. Rain could not wash away the salt, wind could not overthrow the pillar, and any wound made in the lady of salt was instantly and miraculously healed.

Costes and Lebriz, French fliers recently received by President Coolidge, deserve the admiration of this country and of the world.

In 212 hours 57 minutes actual flying time they have covered 22,843 miles. Their average flying speed was nearly thirty miles an hour faster than Colonel Lindbergh's, a great tribute to French airplane construction.

Flaming Youth, dancing, drinking and shooting worry other countries also. Lawyers from Japan, France and Britain are watching a Berlin murder trial. Hans Kraatz, aged nineteen, helped his young friend, Scheller, and Scheller's sister, Hildegarde, to pass an evening pleasantly with dancing, tobacco and much drink. Hildegarde, only sixteen, smuggled a friend, Otto Stephan, into her bedroom, and Hans, attached to Hildegarde, told the girl's brother he ought to kill Stephan. He did it then, killed himself.

The question is, did Kraatz commit murder when he told his friend, "Avenger your sister's honor by killing the man"?

Kaisers, emperors, sultans are not what they were. Berlin kisses the former Kaiser, appearing in a moving picture. Germans have not forgotten the Kaiser's bragging, drinking officers that kicked young German recruits on slight provocation, slapped their faces, called them pigs, and crowded off the sidewalk "common citizens" that paid for the army.

Constantinople sees a moving picture called, "Abdul Hamid, the Red Sultan," showing methods and crimes of the last of their sultans. It is much enjoyed by modern Turks wearing the derby hat instead of the fez.

The "Red Sultan's" thirteen exiled children made a futile effort to have the film seized by a Paris court.

Sandino, Nicaragua's energetic bandit leader, tells British residents in Nicaragua not to be frightened. He is only "after the Yankees." American Marines can't fight, says he and when he meets them "blood will flow."

Sandino's band of 150 ought to be persuaded, as kindly as possible, that their plan to wipe out by violence a treaty between Nicaragua's government and the United States will not work.

SOUTHWESTERN WINS TWO GAMES

The "best gym in the South" is seldom quiet these days. Game after game is being played at Stanislaus and many more scheduled.

Coach Mobley's Bulldogs from Southwestern, La., college, accomplished a feat that they have been trying for years—to defeat the Varsity of Stanislaus in both games of a series.

On last Thursday the visitors nosed out the Red Devils by a trio of points, 28-25, in a well-played and very interesting game, which for a time it seemed that the local Imps were going to tip in their favor. The visitors led at the half by 16-7. The Devils were having a very difficult time locating the basket, shot after shot narrowly missing the point marks. Stanislaus' stock took a boost as Coach Perkins ran in "Pizen" Toca, who found the crabnut in three successive shots, but reinforcements had arrived too late and the rangy 10s from the Pelican State took the contest.

A contest between Kiln Hi and the Gold Jays of St. Joseph Academy was handily gathered in by the Jays by a score of 27-14.

The up-country girls played a hard game and fought every inch of the court, but could not overcome the accurate shooting of Anna Mae Blaize, the star Jay forward, who caged some fancy shots that carried the house. Ita Mae Allingham's playing was also a feature of the game.

Second Game Disastrous.

Southwestern took the second contest—let's get it off our chest—by a score of 45 to 16.

Brand and Holloway led in the attack and with the locals unable to locate, ran away with the game. Where the local boys were unable to connect, their guarding, pass-work and shooting from all angles was superb.

Coach Perkins desperately tried to stem the tide by running in reinforcements, but it was the Red Devils' off night and too much Bull dogs. "Pizen" Toca led the Imps with four perfect loops.

Preliminary to the disaster the Bay Hi girls defeated the sextet from the Isadore Newman Manual Training School of New Orleans by a score of 12-6. The Blizzards, by the shooting of Bob Sick and Nellie Osbourn, overcame the excellent pass-work and team play of Manual, who could do all but properly locate the basket.

WORK AND PLAY

Jays Meet Kiln at S. S. C. Gym.

When the game with Gulfport, which had been scheduled for last Thursday, was called off the Jays were greatly disappointed. However, that "every cloud has a silver lining" was justly proven a few hours later for Brother Peter generously offered the girls to play the preliminary to the Southwestern game and made arrangements for the Kiln team to come over to meet the Gold Jays.

Action was rather slow at the beginning, but when Anna Mae Blaize warmed up to the game and started caging balls things began to hum. Ita Mae Allingham also placed several beauties, while the Gold Jay guards, Marie Quintini and Loretta Smith, saw to it that the ball was kept off of foreign ground. Judith Mauntry and Hazel Kergosien, with Helen Wolfe running for a quarter, played at center and acquitted themselves well. The game ended in another victory for S. J. A. with a score of 24-14.

Second Annual Catholic Girls' Tournament Fixed for March 9, 10, 11. Captain Anna Mae Blaize received a most welcome and interesting let-down during the past week. It was from Mr. Logan C. & A. L. director of New Orleans, informing her that the Second Annual Catholic Girls' tournament to be held in New Orleans has been fixed for the 9, 10 and 11 of March, and asking her to come to the tournament.

The tournaments promises to be carried on in an even keeled and better balanced than last year. The big attractions of the tournament include the following: Memphis, Tenn., Atlanta, Ga., Mobile, Ala., San Antonio, Tex., New Orleans, La., and New Orleans, La.

The POLICY of PROGRESS

A STATEMENT by GENERAL MOTORS

IT is the policy of General Motors to maintain continuous improvement, in every one of its car divisions, with no interruption in production.

This means that you enjoy the benefits of new engineering developments promptly — just as soon as they have been thoroughly tested on the 1245-acre Proving Ground.

It means that you can now order the new Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Oakland, Buick, LaSalle, Cadillac, or GMC Truck, and receive immediate delivery.

Behind this policy of continuous improvement is an organization so widespread and resourceful that it can make and sell quality automobiles more economically than any automobile manufacturer in the world.

In the north and south it logs and mills its own lumber. In the east it makes its own ball bearings and radiators. In the middle west it produces its own plate glass. Its plants are busy in 33 important American cities.

From almost 5,000 suppliers, its materials are obtained — steel by the hundreds of thousands of tons — wire by the tens of thousands of miles — upholstery by the acre — nuts, bolts and washers by the millions. Its sales and service take place through 33,000 dealers. More than 275,000 families look directly to General Motors for their livelihood — almost a million and a half men, women and children in every community in the land.

Meaning so much to so many, General Motors has felt a supreme obligation to look ahead.

Are there methods by which General Motors cars can be better built to better serve?

Are there new ideas which can increase the utility and pleasure and safety of motoring?

Are there new materials which can add to owner satisfaction?

Such are the questions that all General Motors engineers have always asked. The answers have made it possible, year after year, to offer an increasing measure of beauty, in design, modern performance, riding comfort and distinct style. Thus in every price class, from Cadillac to Chevrolet, purchasers are constantly benefiting from the General Motors policy of progress.

WEEKLY ECHOES FROM ST. STANISLAUS COLLEGE

General News.
On Mardi Gras evening from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. the graduates will have their annual dance. With the help of Brother Regis they have completed plans for the best dance ever given by a class.

At last! The whole school is alog with excitement over the news that the convent is going to have a play in the college auditorium on February 15, 1928, called the "Chaperon". We are all for the Convent in everything, and this will be a time when the girls will be able to gaze at us without causing blushes to appear on manly cheeks, as they have in the past. If the saying that true love causes the heart to beat faster, is correct, Fred Davis will probably have high blood pressure on the night of the Convent play.

Brother Regis has organized a reserve St. Stanislaus track team for all misconduct in the senior study hall. Our prefect declares that he has been wanting to coach a track team for several years. On Friday, February 10th, Michael Floyd Johnson, a noted mathematician, and George L. Sullivan, alias Lord Chesterfield, ran ten laps around the college campus. The new coach is extremely satisfied with their layouts, and says they are his best prospects.

Many boys have adopted as their model Anthony Taranto, college sheik, and the cause of many a maiden's tears. In following his example these young men chieft among whom are Leo Heinen, Charlie Gossen and Nicholas Dischler, have each chosen a sweetheart from the younger generation of Bay St. Louis. Though no tears are shed by the ladies, the boys are happy because they are following the footsteps of their leader.

Sports.

Last Thursday the Louisiana Southwestern basket ball team came over to the Bay from Lafayette for a two-game series. The first game was played Thursday night and the second Friday night. Thursday night the Rockachaws did fine passing but poor shooting. Only about one goal out of five attempts was made. Things like that happen sometimes and will continue to do so no matter how good a team may be. During the greater part of the game the Louisiana boys kept the lead by three or four field goals. In the last eight or ten minutes of the game Generes and Toca were sent in to fill out the weak spots and the crowd stood up in the bleachers cheering to beat the band. From then on things began to pick up for Stanislaus. Toca might be a little runt but he surely has an eye for the basket. We are sorry to say that the Rockachaws did not win but we can say, however, that they gave the Southwestern quintet such a hard race for their money that they were continually scratching their heads to find out what to do next. The final score of the game was 28 to 25, the Lafayette boys being the victors.

Friday evening the Rockachaws went down before the Southwestern outfit for the second time. The only difference between this game and that of the night before was that the score was almost tripped. Although the Rocks experienced a greater defeat in this game than any they have played this season they are not going to play the part of a quitter by a long shot. Those Lafayette fellows were just naturally good and you've got to hand it to them. It would have taken a team far above our class to beat them as bad as they beat us. The score was 45 to 16. Too bad wasn't it? But don't worry, our boys have not lost the Stanislaus spirit and that is the thing that counts in the long run. Friday and Saturday, the 17th and 18th of this month, Millsaps Freshmen will down here to play us and then you'll see just how fine our boys can play.

Sunday afternoon, February 12th, the 135-lb. team met the Davit Knights of Columbus of New Orleans in a dandy game of basket ball. The little Red Devils did well, considering that their opponents were larger and more experienced. The score at the half was 18-18. For three or four minutes both teams, in the second half, were scoring evenly. But this was soon ended by the visitors who took a big lead and kept it.

The game finished with the little Rockachaws as the only thing that kept them from getting a bigger beating than they did.

Davids Defeat Sharpshooters

The losing streak of Stanislaus kept its pace through Sunday when the crack Sharpshooters from the onslaught of the Davit Knights of Columbus on the Sabbath by a score of 40-36.

The college team held the Caseys to 18 at the half, but Oulliber caged four field goals along with three by Engert, which gave them enough margin to keep the collegians away and win the game.

Nurse Advises WEAK, RUN-DOWN WOMEN

To Take Cardui

"I have known of Cardui for nearly twenty-five years," says Mrs. Sotima Mehlman, 1072 Harrison Ave., during this time, I have frequently recommended it to others, for it is a splendid medicine and I am glad to give people the benefit of my experience.

"I have been a nurse for several years and have often come in contact with patients who were run-down and weak. Often I have told sufferers of Cardui, and the way I myself had been helped after taking it and advised them to give it a trial. Many of them have since thanked me for what I told them so I am willing that other women should know about it, too.

"I take Cardui, during the winter, every day. I had no appendicitis, was weak and listless. It was hard to keep going under such conditions, and I looked for something which would help me.

"I had read of Cardui and decided to try it. After taking it, I improved so much that I have taken it since whenever I needed a tonic." Sold by all druggists.

ECHOES FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

The sixth week of the legislative session closed with both bodies having under consideration the big appropriation bills and some of the main administration measures.

School Books.

The Governor's plan for creating, building and equipping a state printing plant came into the Senate. There are four companion bills.

Senate Bill No. 228 creates a state printing plant; calls for a state printer to have charge; and provides for a state printing commission, consisting of the Governor, the attorney general and the state printer.

The plant is to print school books for use of public school pupils at cost. It also will do the printing for state institutions and departments, such as bulletins and catalogues. Blank books for use by county officers are to be prepared in this plant.

It is provided, however, that other county printing, such as is usually done by local printers, shall be done at the state plant.

Building Commission.

Senate Bill No. 229 provides that a building commission shall be appointed, consisting of the Governor and four members. The building is to be erected near the Old Capitol, and will house the Departments of Education and Health, in addition to carrying the printing department.

Distribution.

A reorganized Text-book Commission is called for in Senate Bill No. 230, to consist of eight members. Books are to be distributed from the office of the county superintendent to principals of the various schools, the local principal to sell to pupils for cash. The teacher settles with the county superintendent, and that officer accounts to the state printer.

Bond Issue.

An appropriation of $600,000.00 is asked for in Senate Bill No. 231, to erect and equip the building. This is to be paid from the bond issue. The bonds, principal and interest, will be retired from a fund created by adding from eight to fifteen per cent. to the cost of books.

Livestock Exemption.

The House passed the Senate bill exempting cattle, sheep, hogs and goats from taxes. The House cut the period from ten to five years.

Nuisance Tax.

Numerous petitions have been received in opposition to such taxes. Some members favor a tax on tobacco.

so alone; others favor including soft drinks. Still another group favors a general sales tax on all articles sold.

Appropriations.

Heavy bills are coming in for permanent improvements at state institutions. One bill calls for a building of $4,000,000, to be used in completing the insane hospital in Rankin county; in improvements at the East Mississippi Insane Hospital in Meridian, and at the Peeble-Mind Colony in Ellisville.

The State Teachers college, Hattiesburg, asks $1,000,000 for improvements; while the Delta college in Cleveland wants half a million for buildings.

The University, A. & M., M. S. C. W. and Alcorn A. & M. call for about $1,500,000 for improvements. The House Appropriation committee is reporting out many measures on the same basis as for the past two years.

The Senate Finance committee has made few reports.

The House.

The House passed bills permitting farmers to buy serum for vaccinating hogs and cattle; to create a special sheriff's fund for use in catching illicit liquor consumers; and to tax the gasoline seller who misbrands his products.

GERMANS PERFECT GIGANTIC FLYING BOAT.

Germany has developed an amazing flying boat with ten motors in enormous wings which spread 232 feet, and is expected to make regular 24-hour trans-Atlantic flights next year.

The machine weighs 256,000 pounds (128 tons) and will be able to carry 165 persons and 13,000 pounds of freight with a maximum speed of 165 miles an hour.

SEND PHOTOGRAPHS BY RADIO WITH NO SPECIAL APPARATUS

Broadcasting Station WEAF, New York, using its regular wave length, publicly demonstrated last week for the first time the broadcasting of photographs by radio and the reception of the pictures on a small device attached to an ordinary radio receiver in the home.

Broadcasting company officials said the process might be employed to send a picture of detailed printed programs early each morning to radio listeners.
